

GOOD TO KNOW

The Clarence Canoe & Kayak Trail is the longest whitewater trail in Australia, covering more than 195 km of river between the Nymboi-Binderay National Park and the township of Copmanhurst.

The trail offers spectacular scenery, an abundance of wildlife and exhilarating flat water and whitewater adventure, encompassing the Nymboida, Mann and Clarence river systems. There is something to please all paddling palates across the eight map sections whether you're into zen-like novice cruising or bone-rattling rapids. You can base yourself in Grafton to tackle a section at a time or you take the overnight wilderness camping option. It's totally up to you.

"With scenery so beautiful your eyes will water and rapids so wild your bum will tighten, you'll be wondering why you hadn't come sooner"
